Editor's Desk

It is a matter of great pride and privilege for me to be a part of RRC college magazine 2020-21. RRC provides a platform for every student to develop their learning skills. The main thrust of the college has been to achieve human excellence to shape the personality of pupils through a host of extracurricular and co-curricular activities, and instilling in them the moral values. Our budding talents have expressed their thoughts, ideas, hopes, feelings, aspirations and convictions in a creative way. This is a way for them to broaden their mental, psychological and intellectual horizons. The College Magazine reflects how the college has been able to live up to its aim, providing quality education to the students. As you scan through the pages, it will enlighten you about the important milestones that RRC has achieved this year. I heartily thank our Management for putting faith in me for this creative work. I also thank the Principal incharge, Dr.R.Jaganath & Coordinator-Self Finance-Mr.N.Ramesh who have guided us at every stage of compiling/creating this college magazine. My heartfelt thanks the esteemed members of our editorial board and Student members for their co-operation and support and putting in their best efforts in bringing out this issue of our college Magazine.

II. Massive Tree Plantation

We have planted the trees covering a total area of 4046.86 sq meters has been developed at the college campus based on two aspects in consideration of horticulture department and Birder forum.

For Lives

Planting billions of trees across the world is one of the biggest and cheapest ways of taking CO₂ out of the atmosphere to tackle the climate crisis, according to scientists, who have made the first calculation of how many more trees could be planted without encroaching on crop land or urban areas.

For Birds

Planting the right trees for birds as part of a bird-friendly landscape will help attract a wide variety of species to your backyard. Trees are an essential part of bird landscaping, and the right trees can meet all of the birds' needs for food, water, shelter, and nesting sites.

There are three basic types of trees that can be fantastic parts of any bird landscaping.

We have planted three basic types of trees that can be fantastic parts of any bird landscaping.

- 1. Deciduous Trees: These broad-leafed trees lose their leaves in the winter, but in spring, they are filled with flowers and buds, and many of them produce fruit for birds. In the autumn and winter, the leaf litter from deciduous trees is also a fine source of food for ground-feeding birds, and it also provides nesting material in the spring. The best deciduous trees for birds include larches, mesquites, maples, oaks, and willows.
- 2. Coniferous Trees: These evergreen trees have stiff needle-like leaves that stay on the tree year-round, making them essential for winter shelter for birds, particularly in areas with cold temperatures and heavy snowfall. Many birds will also feed on seeds from the cones of coniferous trees. Popular coniferous trees for birds include firs, cedars, hemlocks, pines, and spruces.
- 3. Fruit Trees: Fruit trees are deciduous trees that deserve special mention because they are so important for birds. The buds are a spring food source, flowers attract insects for birds to feed on and many birds will eat the fruit directly, even if it stays on the tree long past its peak ripeness. The best fruit trees for birds include crabapples, chokecherries, serviceberries, mulberries, and hollies.
